Power up Your Campus with Auto-Evaluation

For the last two decades, E-Box has been at the forefront of auto-evaluation and learning automation. Initially, the company viewed engineering education as the study of designing and analyzing systems, whether it be computer, machinery, electrical/electronic, or biological systems. It is vital in engineering education to verify if a student's system design meets the given requirements and to assess their comprehension of the concept.

Moreover, evaluating the student's ability to apply the acquired knowledge in creating novel systems, machines, and constructions is also necessary. However, every course includes specific exercises to be practiced by the students to gain the required knowledge and skills. Sadly, regulatory bodies such as AICTE/UGC or Universities/Colleges in India have not conducted extensive research on the science of learning engineering. They have merely worked on abstract curriculum or syllabus levels without delving into the delivery, transmission, or assimilation of each concept or course. They have focused on the term OBE, and NAAC/NBA have insisted on defining objectives for courses, assuming that such definitions or a few regulations over the blooms taxonomy model could accomplish it. Nonetheless, this approach has failed, and it's time for everyone to focus on the science of higher education.

In contrast, E-Box has been researching the science of higher education, tech-skilling, and engineering applications to build a comprehensive framework for intricate auto-evaluations. The intricate auto-evaluation enables continuous monitoring of students/trainees and provides personalized attention to every concept and topic they are learning. Human teachers cannot achieve this on a large scale. Even for a class of 60 students, it is impossible for human teachers to drive a practice-oriented approach, wherein students solve hundreds of engineering and technology problems, and subsequently evaluate them manually. But practice-oriented approach is essential for students to learn and develop the required skills. Only platforms with intricate auto-evaluations can provide this. E-Box provides intricate auto-evaluation and learning automation that can power up your campus. It's time for educational institutions to be more responsible and logical and not continue to provide sub-standard engineering education to our Indian youth. Let's understand the science of engineering education.
